AN ATTEMPT TO MAKE IT RAIN .- A letter from Lynchburg in the Richmond dispatch says:-"A gentleman who resides near Boydton, Mechlen-burg county, Va., has aspired to a new science—that of controlling the clouds in order to cause it to rain at will. With the view of attaining this end, he has built a 'Rain-tower,' which novel structure is said to be 39 feet diameter at the base, which size it retains to the height of 40 feet. To this height it contains four flues, each 7 feet in diameter. The number of flues is then reduced to two, which run up 20 feet higher, the top of the structure reaching an aititude of 60 feet. The whole concern was erected at a cost of about $1,000. The medus operands of causing rain to fall is a follows: The flues are filled with dry pine wood, which is set on fire, and which is kept up wood, which is set on fire, and which is kept up until the desired effect is produced on the ele-ments. His theory is that the great heat produced in the air above the 'tower' will cause the clouds to concentrate over it, when plenty of rain will fall in that vicinity. The originator of this novel idea is said to be a firm believer in the practica. bility and utility of his 'Invention,' notwithstand-ing the fact, that after repeated trials, during which he consumed hundreds of cords of wood, his tower failed to produce the desired effect on the unpropitious heavens, he baving been a great sufferer from drought during the entire spring

SEVERAL OLD HEADS TOGETHER-An Extraor dinary Meeting -At Jackson, in this State, says the Detroit Advertiser, the 16th of this month. there met at a tea-party sixteen persons whose united ages amounted to one thousand one hundred and seventy-two years, and the average age of each was seventy-three years and three months Such a gathering is rare anywhere, and especially in the western country, where so large a portion of the inhabitants reckon their period of residence back but a few years, comparatively. Their names and ages were respectively as follows: Ladies-Mrs. Call, 85; McComb, 85; Herrick, 82; Rockwell, 74; Sergeant, 78; Foster, 74; Ruggles, 73; McGee, 68; Turner, 66; Morrison, 69; Leebe, 72; Pool, 70; Kennedy, 66; Trimbick, 68 Gentlemen—Mr. Turner, 72; McGee, 70. Twelve of the ladies were widows. the ladies were widows.

The Whigs and others of Fauquier county Virginia, friendly to the election of Bell and Everett, had an enthusiastic demonstration at War-renton on the 24th instant. The demonstration was kept up for two days, and commanded the attention of a large concourse of people of every party. Robert E. Scott, Esq., made one of his ablest efforts, and happy addresses were also made by Alexander Rives, E. C. Carrington, R. H. Carter, A. J. Crane, J. V. Brooke, and others. At night on Saturday there was a brilliant scene. Rockets and bonfires sent forth a brilliant light, and stirring music was heard on the streets, as in the old Whig era. During the evening enthusi-astic crowds were addressed in stirring speeches by Mesars. Scruggs, Crane, Rives, Shackleford, Skinner, and John S. Pendleton,

Houston..... 2 nother vote, on the afternoon of Monday, 27th,

A Newport correspondent writes:-" The first symptoms of the Newport autumn are begin-ning to be visible. The crowds of guests which arrive are thinner, and those which depart are more numerous than they were. Alas, for the glory of the hotels! If the proprietors could only extend the "season" six days longer than its usual length, they could make money. instead of barely covering their expenses. As it is now, the hotels, notwithstanding the rush of patronage during the week or two constituting the hight of the searon, are poor property, and, I am told, would not sell for more than one-half their cost. They will, probably, keep open until the 15th of September.

GENERAL APATHY .- For the past four weeks we have been traveling in various sections of the country-in Virginia, Maryland, Ohio, New York, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, and Delaware, thus having an excellent opportunity to acquire reliable information with reference to the existing state of polltics there. But a single fact in that connection impressed itself upon our mind, travel where we would. Viz: That the great mass of the people throughout the States named above, except in Vir ginia, Pennsylvania, and New York, are less interested in the current struggle than ever before in a Presidential contest. In fact, except in Virginia, Pennsylvania, and New York, we found none others than the politicians by trade, now existing in considerable numbers everywhere, who seem to trouble themselves in the least about the matter-there being no more popular excitement anywhere upon the subject than over their ordinary State elections, if as much. The fisming accounts of great and enthusiastic meetings of all the parties at the North, which their partizan newspapers are publishing from day to day, are all to be received cum grano salis; not a tithe of what they embrace being literally true This state of things strikes us as boding extensive political changes soon to occur, the precise character of which are as yet not to be divined by the shrewdest and most far-seeing political calculators. If it results in a better understanding between the two contending sections of the Confederacy than now exists, and in slushing off from the management of party affairs the lobbyites, contract speculators, chronic office-seekers, and constitutional demagogues, who have by degrees come too often to monopolize the management of the affairs of all the parties in a great measure, to the almost entire exclusion of independent and unselfish citizens from participation in their direction, it will indeed prove a godsend for the public interest. Our impression is that such is to be its tendency, though we are free to confess that the signs on which we base that impression are still very indistinct.

NAVAL INTELLIGENCE .- Dispatches have been received, from Flag Officer Stribling, of the East India squadron, dated Shanghal, June 14, 1860. Since his arrival there in the Hartford several important cities near had been captured by the rebels, causing great alarm among the Chinese and an entire suspension of business with the interior. Several hundred men had been landed at Shanghai by the English and French forces for the protection of both Chinese and foreigners against any sudden attack. The city of Shanghai and foreign settlements were fully protected by the allied forces, which, at the same time, were preparing to make war against the Imperial Government. The English and French fleets were assembled at the entrance of the Gulf of Pe-tche-li, the former on the north and the latter on the south side, where it was presumed they would remain until Lord Elgin and Baron Gross had endeavored to settle their difficulties without resorting to Despatches have also been received from Flag Officer William Inman, commanding the African squadron, dated as late as June 30. He was then at West Bay, Prince's Island, where he had arrived with his flag ship, the Constellation, on the 23d of June, from Porto Praya. The steam-sloop Mohican, Commander Godon, was also in port. Commander Thomas J. Page, in charge of the survey and exploration of the Parana and tributiries of the Paraguay river, reports from Buenos Ayres, under date of the 16th June, that the work has been brought very near to a close. He had given permission to one of his assistants, Lieut, Chas. P. McGary, to return to the United States.

evening says:—"Disappointment in the expections of a change in the weather and threatened political contingencies have led to a further decline in the English funds. American securities show greater firmness, owing to the anticipation of an active business in breadstuffs." The select committee of the House of Commons have issued a report, stating that the condition of the laws regulating the national intercourse with France, Spain, Portugal, and the United States, is most unsatisfactory. During the last three years the British merchant shipping trade has been in a state of great depression. In the strug-gle and competition to which British ship-owners are now exposed with foreigners, they view with the greatest jealousy the restriction still imposed by foreign powers on our shipping. In the home, colonial, and foreign trade, the rate of freights especially has been for a long time wholly unre-munerative. The report concludes with a hope that the recommendations of the committee will receive the earliest attention of the Government. A SOUTHERN LAWYER PATRONIZES AN AUCTION STORE .- John W. Harper is an attorney and so-STORE.—John W. Harper is an attorney and so-licitor residing in Abbeville, Henry county, Ala., where he expounds Coke upon Littleton, and fights the legal battles of his litigious neighbors for pecuniary considerations. With his pockets lined with his pecuniary profits he came to this city on a visit. This morning he stepped into the mock auction store No. 197 Broadway: a watch was being sold, the glib tongue of the auctioneer extolling its merits to a pitch of excellence fitting it for presentation to the Prince of Wales. Mr. Harper bid $15, and instanter the watch was declared his property. The rest of the story is a thrice told tale. The watch proved to be trass, and the interpreter of Blackstone was allowed, by paying $75 additional, to exchange it for a witch with gold hunting case, worth about haif his total disbursements. In the second bargain ir. Harper discovered he had been as badly fleeted as in his first purchase. He remonstrated. It was of no use. To the Mayor's office came Mr. Harper. He showed Col. Burnham, the city marsial, but card, and a clear of shape on his cheek at the his card, and a glow of shame on his cheek at the manner he had been taken in. An officer vas sent to the auction store, and the money Mr. H. had foolishly disbursed was paid back to hm. "I am some on law cases," said Mr. Harper, as he put the money in his wallet, "but I give up to watch cases."—N. Y. Express.
